Harris Williams & Co. is pleased to announce the sale of Dynojet Research, Inc., a portfolio company of Graham Partners, Inc., to American Capital Strategies, Ltd. The transaction closed November 20, 2007. Harris Williams & Co. acted as the exclusive advisor to Dynojet. The transaction was led by Todd Morris and Paul Mohme from the firm's San Francisco office, along with John Neuner from Harris Williams & Co.'s Richmond office.

Dynojet (www.dynojet.com) is the leading provider of aftermarket performance enhancing parts and accessories and diagnostic equipment and software for motorcycle, powersports, and automotive applications. Since the company's inception in 1972, substantial investment in product development enabled Dynojet to become an industry pioneer with the introduction of new products and accessories and made Dynojet the premier brand for performance products. Headquartered in Las Vegas, Nevada, with additional facilities in Montana, California, the Netherlands, and Germany, Dynojet sells its products in 33 countries.

Graham Partners (www.grahampartners.net) is a leading lower-middle market, industrial private equity firm based in suburban Philadelphia with over $850 million under management. Graham Partners is sponsored by the privately held Graham Group of York, Pennsylvania, an industrial and investment concern with global interests in plastics, packaging, machinery, building products, and outsource manufacturing. Graham Partners seeks to acquire industrial companies with revenues between $20 million and $350 million that participate in manufacturing niches that can be leveraged by the firm's unique combination of operating resources and financial expertise.

American Capital Strategies (www.american-capital.com) is the only alternative asset management company in the S&P 500. With $19 billion in capital resources under management, American Capital is the largest U.S. publicly traded private equity fund and one of the largest publicly traded alternative asset managers. American Capital, both directly and through its global asset management business, is an investor in management and employee buyouts, private equity buyouts, and early stage and mature private and public companies. American Capital provides senior debt, mezzanine debt, and equity to fund growth, acquisitions, recapitalizations, and securitizations. American Capital and its affiliates invest from $5 million to $800 million per company in North America and € million to €500 million per company in Europe.

Harris Williams & Co. is one of the largest mergers and acquisitions advisory firms in the country focused exclusively on the middle market. Harris Williams & Co. represents private equity groups as well as publicly and privately held companies worldwide.
